

THE MUSEUM OF THE FUTURE

Emerging technologies in the spatial experience of culture and heritage.

William Todd
13226709
wmtodd@hotmail.com

The immediate aim of my project is to explore opportunities for education and transformative experience, through emerging digital technologies, in the context of the museum.

This research integrates emerging digital technologies with museum based education strategies to construct new teaching platforms that enhance learning experiences. It proposes that creating dynamic opportunities for interaction between learner and content via technology can assist in creating connection and memory.

Designing for accessibility and consideration of artifacts

